Jerry Coffey of This County One of Those Slated to "Go" If Our County Votes Bluett.

90 WILL BE FIRED

Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 31. (INS.)—While Governor Pinchot's "execution list" was being compiled today for fulfillment of his axe-wielding move to force the re-election of C. Jay Goodnough as speaker of the 1925 House, an effort was under way to get certain organization leaders into conference with the governor to agree on a candidate that will defeat Thomas Bluett, Philadelphia, Vare-Grundy-Leslie man.

This is the latest development in the bitter fight that has assumed the nature of old-time politics and which re-echoes the battle between former Governor Martin G. Brumbaugh and Senator Boise Penrose, when beheading of office holders was a favorite pastime.

There was no announcement of the plan to align organization men against Bluett but it is known that a former state senator, very close to the governor, has been despatched to bring W. Harry Baker, Republican chairman, and who favors Clyde Harer, as speaker, into a conference with the chief executive of the state.

So determined is the governor to keep Bluett, a "wet," from the speakership, that he is preparing to ask for resignations of scores of other employes in addition to the list last night.

These will not only include Philadelphia and Allegheny county men, it is known, but nearly every other county in the state will feel the effect of the decapitation.

Department heads today were meticulously scrutinizing the list of their employes with the idea of singling out those office holders who were sponsored by representatives whose vote on the speakership is in doubt.

These were being sent to the governor and will form the second batch of those in direct line of the political guillotine.

Harrisburg, Dec. 30.—Resignations of between 80 and 90 persons connected with state departments and bureaus and residing in counties whose legislators and leaders favor the election of Thomas Bluett as speaker of the next House of Representatives will be asked within the next 48 hours by the Pinchot administration as part of its drive for votes for the re-election of C. Jay Goodnough, the Governor's choice for presiding officer.

Insurance Men Ousted

In the neighborhood of 40 persons will receive letters tomorrow from head of the highway, wealth, labor and industry and insurance departments, asking that their resignations be forwarded immediately. In the case of the Insurance Department, this will amount to dismissal; in the majority of the other cases the resignations will be held pending developments. The following day some 30 additional letters will be sent out and more the next day.

The insurance men "fired" are all

WHITE HOUSE FIRM IN DEMAND FRANCE PAY ITS WAR DEBT

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.

Washington, Dec. 30—The American Government's determination to collect the war debts owed it by France and other European nations, and not to engage in any international or round table discussion of pooling or cancellation, was reaffirmed at the White House today with great emphasis.

And the intimation was plainly conveyed that if nations owing the United States repudiate their debts or default in them, the American government is possessed of retalitory powers in the way of checking private credits that might prove extremely embarrassing to the countries concerned.

The debt discussion was projected at the White House because of the Clemental report to the French parliament, in which the French Finance Minister classed the $4,000,000,000 debt France owes this government as "a political debt" and intimated that pay day was a long way off.

Officially, it was said at the White House, the United States Government can take no cognizance of the Clementel report because it was not addressed to Washington, but it was made plain that this government has a very lively "unofficial" interest in the epochal French balance sheet, which ignored the American debt.

Obviously, it was pointed out, any repudiation or disavowal of an international obligation of the character of the war debts would be calculated to seriously affect the private credit of the nation concerned.

And while there is now no law which will permit the administration to interfere with private banking, there is similarly no law which would prohibit the American Government from telling American investors that a particular foreign loan was not the best investment in the world.

In this and in other ways, it was intimated, the American Government is possessed of sufficient powers to protect itself and its citizens against dubious foreign financing.

Latest Design "Flash" Signal Being Installed At Creek N. Y. C. Crossing

The New York Central Railroad Company is installing one of the latest and most up-to-date electric flash crossing signals at the Clearfield creek crossing on the Clearfield-Tyrone link of the Lakes-to-the-Sea highway.

The new crossing signal, which replaces the bell so long in use at this point is said to be one of the most effective signals yet invented and its installation will add greatly to the safety of travelers using this highway.

The New York Central people are spending more than $2,000 on the installation of this signal and are to be congratulated on their effort to remove the menace or hazard of this grade crossing.

BIG BUSINESS YEAR FOR AT LEAST 30 OF WORLD'S IMPORTANT COM'ERCIAL NATIONS

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, Dec. 31.—At least 30 out of 40 principal commercial nations of the world will begin 1925 with prospects of the best business year since the war, according to data compiled today at the Department of Commerce.

The United States, with an anticipated foreign trade of over nine billion dollars next year, Canada with rising agricultural prices and Great Britain with a stabilized government and industrial activity are markedly in the lead, promising to be the greatest factors in the conquest for world markets.

European conditions are particularly contrasted with those last December, when widespread political and economic uncertainty promised little for the new year.

Very favorable business conditions exist in France and Italy, while marked improvements are observed in Germany, Belgium and many of the smaller European countries, according to Departmet of Commerce advices.

Conditions in Esthonia, Spain and Sweden show unfavorable indications but these, it was pointed out, are comparatively minor nations from a commercial standpoint.

Even more encouraging reports come from Latin-America where not a single country now suffers from

90 MILES ON SKATES

West Fairview, December 31. (INS.)—J. C. Ruppley, a 50-year-old man, is ready today to meet marathon skaters of that general class of senility. He lays claim to honors because yesterday he put on his skates here and less than 10 hours later was in Carlisle. On the winding Conodoguinet creek the distance is between 90 and 100 miles.

Moonshine Spoils Honeymoon, Landing Groom In Prison

DuBois, December 31, 1924.—Pee Nielson, who resides in the Skunk Hollow section, was rudly separated from the pleasures of his honeymoon, following a Christmas wedding, when he was arrested, charged with violation of the prohibition laws. Nielson was arresed at Chestnut Grove, where it was learned he had planned his wedding trip, and was taken into custody by Corporal Barker and Private Kelly, state police, Constable Neeley and Officer Love, of the DuBois police force. The raid took place early yesterday morning.

The officers first went down to the Skunk Hollow home of the wanted man, and while not finding the owner, were rewarded for their efforts by finding a still, and the outfit that goes with it, as well as a quantity of the raw and finished product. They learned that Nielson was at Chestnut Grove. They found him, and put a sudden end to his honeymoon.

Nielson was taken before J. J. Schnell, of Falls Creek and was held under $500 bail for his appearance at court. The bail could not be found so he was taken to the Brookville jail. The whiskey found tested 150 proof, and was about 75 per cent alcohol.

Pete claimed that the products was not put out for sale, but was for home consumption. This is a matter that will probably be decided in court.

WESTINGHOUSE HEAD PREDICTS IMMENSE DEMAND FOR THEIR PRODUCT BY MARCH

RAIL MERGE HELPS

By E. M. HERR.
President Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company.
Written Especially for I. N. S.

Railroads, which have been using large quantities of steel products for many months, are continuing their purchases in large volume.

Manufacturers, who have been buying sparingly during the fall, are beginning to increase their orders and are planning for large future commitments. Prosperity in the iron and steel industry is almost invariably followed, after an interval of about three or four months by a corresponding uplift in the production of electrical machinery and appliances. One can, therefore, confidently predict that an improvement in the demand for electrical products will be felt not later than February or March.

Another favorable factor is the improvement in the position of our railroads from the state of great uncertainity as to their future which prevailed before the results of the recent election were known. As railroad operators are now assured premission and even urged to make such favorable combinations with other roads as good business judgement indicates the earning power may in many cases be expected to improve greatly over anything heretofore possible. This condition, coming at a time of easy monetary conditions will surely lead to the early accomplishment of many of the plans for electrification so long delayed.

The great improvement in the financial situation among the farmers of the northwest will be helpful, not so much in their direct purchases of electrical products, although these are steadily increasing, but more especially in the indirect effect of their increased prosperity in other lines, which in turn require electrical machinery and appliances in a larger and larger amount.

The very remarkable growth in the demand for radio devices of all kinds is entirely unprecedented, having progressed from nothing to a business for the country as a whole of about $350,000,000 per annum during a period of less than four years. Radio devices require power to operate them and while this is small in each individual set, the number of sets in use is so large an aggregate that the total power required is considerable.

Altogether, the electrical manufacturing industry can expect a fair and increasing volume of business during the next year and possibly for a much longer period.

FOUNDER OF HYDE NAMED AS BRITISH CONSUL PITTSBURG

Charles Hyde, one of the original owners of the steel plant at the town which bears his name, two miles south of Clearfield, has been appointed British consul at Pittsburgh. Mr. Hyde succeeds Charles E. E. Childers, who resigned, effective tomorrow.

Mr. Hyde came to America in 1886 to continue his engineering studies, having won a Whitworth scholarship and medal in England that year. In 1886 he joined the engineering force at the Homestead Steel Works, under Julian Kennedy, and was promoted to assistant superintendent of the open hearth and plate mill departments in 1887, resigning in 1888 to open an office as a consulting engineer in Pittsburgh, which he maintained since that time. With his brother he built the steel mill at Hyde in 1900.

During the last 36 years he has been interested in a number of engineering, commercial and mining projects in this country and abroad. He spent part of 1894 in Russia and all of 1904 in England, in connection with engineering projects. In 1894 he married a granddaughter of Capt. William Ward, a pioneer Pittsburgher. His only son, Lieut. Charles Hyde, Jr. who was attached to the headquarters' staff of the One Hundred and Fifty-eighth Brigade of the A. E. F., died in the Argonne October 5, 1918.

Having served as acting British consul here during the greater part of the past two years, Mr. Hyde is considered familiar with the duties of the office.

PRESIDENT GREEN WILL NOT ENDORSE FULLY THE PROGRAM OF SAMUEL GOMPERS

Washington, Dec. 30 (INS)—William Green, new president of the American Federation of Labor, declared today in the first public statement he has made since assuming office, that organized labor would continue its fight for a "full and complete recognition on the part of all employers of labor of the principle of collective bargaining, for justice, decent wages and tolerable and humane conditions of employment."

Green said he would strive to carry out the mandates of the Federation's recent national convention at El Paso, but declined to commit himself to pursue completely the policies of the late Samuel Gompers, whom he succeeded.

"We confidently expect to carry forward the work of organization and education among the unorganized and to contend in a most vigorous fashion for a speedy realization and enjoyment on the part of the working men and women of all the rights and privileges to which they are justly entitled" Green said.

"We shall resist any and all attempts to lower the workers living standards, anywhere and everywhere.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

Will smebody please page old Methuselah? The men of the future will be able to live as long as they like, declares Dr. Serge Voronoff, the gland expert, in a signed article in the Sunday Pictorial.

"The grafting operation," he writes, "cannot shorten life but must lengthen it. This is easily explained by the fact that the young, healthy substances which the new gland disseminates throughout the system not only tone up the cells but increase their vitality and bring them fresh energy.

"We know definitely, therefore, that life can be prolonged considerably by grafting, all the more because we can repeat the operation when a young gland taken from another subejct finally after many years has become exhausted in turn. In the experiments I have made with animals I [illegible] and the second [illegible] has produced quite as much effect as the first.

"Our healthy cells, like infusoria can live forever. By means of successive grafts at long intervals we can, I believe, prolong life at will. Therefore the time will come when we will allow ourselves to die only when we have become tired of living.

The difficulty in performing these operations, Dr. Voronoff says, is due to the difficulty of getting glands. Those of young men who die from accidents can be used, retaining their vitality for six hours after death. The higher monkeys living in Africa are as suitable as young men, but so far only a few of them could be obtained. It is impossible yet to prove the operations on men have prolonged human life, the doctor admits, explaining:

"My first operations on men were carried out in 1920 and my oldest patients were eighty-three. In order for the proof to be complete we shall have to waite for these persons, some of them illustrious men, to live beyond the age at present regarded as the limit of human existence."

Deaths due to alcoholism have increased tenfold since prohibition, according to Arthur Sellers, chief deputy coroner of Philadelphia.

He made the statement at the inquest into the death of Andrew Haydon, fifty one, 948 N. Forty-second St., who died Nov. 27, at the home of Louis Truby, 4219 Lancaster avenue. The coroner's jury found Haydon died of acute dilatation of the heart.

"During my nineteen years of experience I have never seen so large a number of deaths from alcohol as we have today," he declared. "Before prohibition the average number of deaths form this cause was about three or four a week. Now it is between thirty five and forty."

* * * *

The first chapter of Daniel is the earliest temperance tract, inspired, no doubt, by the evils arising from the abuse of strong drink which Daniel witnessed around him in Babylon.

This was indeed the direct cause of the fall of that magnificient city, for its fortification was so strong and its garrison so numerous that Cyrus, with his combined army of Medes and Persians, failed to take it after a seige of several months.

Cyrus was about to abandon the seige when a novel idea occurred to him. He knew that a great festival was held annually at which Babylon gave itself up to revelry and drinking.

This date he selected for an attack by marching along the channel of the Euphrates, which intersected the city. A trench was dug by which the water of the river was diverted and its depth greatly reduced.

The festival extended over some weeks, but on the principal day Belshazzar gave the grand supper in the hall of his palace so vividly pictured by Daniel. The revelry was at its height when the dread handwriting appeared on the wall. Meanwhile, Cyrus had formed up his attack.

His leading companies were already wading along the bed of the Euphrates, the Babylonian picket had left their post to join in the festivities, and the invaders got possession of the city without resistance from its drunken garrison.

seriously depressed conditions. Columbian indications were the most optimistic, the situation there being described as more satisfactory than for some years.

Dispatches said that the strike situation in Cuba had cleared and that prosperity is promised by a record sugar crop estimated at from 4,300,000 to 4,735,000 tons.

From the Far East came reports of continued improvements in Australia, India and Indo-China. Japan is faced with an unfavorable trade balance but is slowly recovering from the effects of the earthquake.

Chinese conditions are still adversely affected by the uncertain political status, but markets reflected a gradual recovery.

Unusual activity marks the business situation in Hawaii, according to official cablegrams. A record sugar crop valued at $80,000,000 has been harvested.

In North America the Canadian situation follows closely that in the United States with prosperity promised for 1925.

The foreign trade of the United States passed the $8,000,000,000 mark in 1924, of which over $4,500,000,000 were imports. Both Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and Secretary of Commerce Hoover predict prosperity for the new year.

WOMAN HEADS STATE EDUCATIONAL ASSOCIATION

Erie, Dec. 30.—Miss Jessie Gray, a teacher in the Philadelphia Normal school, today was elected president of the Pennsylvania State Education Association. Her election marked the first time a woman has headed the state educational organization.

The election of Miss Gray was assured when Charles Dickey, superintendent of Allegheny county schools, and George D. Robb, superintendent of Altoona schools, withdrew their names as candidates. The name of Miss Gray was placed in nomination by Miss McAndrews, of Carbondale, who declared that the time had come to allow the women their full share in the administration of the organization.

Congress Committee On Investigating Dry Law Enforcement Is Working

Washington, Dec. 31 (INS.)—The long deferred senatorial investigation of prohibition enforcement was launched today by the Couzens Committee with a secret session attended by officials of the prohibition bureau.

It was the committee's purpose to arrange an agreement with the bureau officials upon a method of procedure. There were indications that the investigation would be directed first into the issuance and handling of liquor withdrawal permits, with particular reference to charges that great quanities of alcoholic beverages were illegally withdrawn from various government warehouses.

"We want to arrange a plan of procedure" Senator Couzens, Republican of Michigan, chairman, explained prior to the meeting. "I expect the bureau officials will agree to have the committee investigate methods of issuing and of cancelling permits for withdrawals from bonded warehouses. All the sessions will be executive."

Prohibition Commissioner Haynes and a number of his assistants attended the meeting.

We Stop Long Enough To Wish You One And All
A Happy And Prosperous New Year

On Friday We Start

PRE-INVENTORY CLEARANCES

Taking inventory in such a huge store as this is a strenuous time. It is to our advantage to have as little stock as possible. And in order to bring stocks down to their lowest level we are going to start a series of Pre-Inventory Sales that will lower the stocks. These sales will mean much saving to you. There will be merchandise placed on sale at very low prices in order to clear it out.

Watch for Further Announcements.

NEW YEAR RESOLUTIONS

Every day is the beginning of a new year to the wise person who has learned how to live usefully in the present, to look with instructive vision to the future and to turn to the past only for profitable experience or happy memories.

Nevertheless, the first day of a calendar year has special significance to most human beings. It marks a suitable occasion for casting off the sorrows and mistakes of the past year and turning eagerly to the New Year in which many good things may happen. Everyone expects, with the aid of a few good resolutions, to make progress along many lines in the next twelve months.

A resolution to get more real joy out of life is one that most Americans ought to make. And it is not such a selfish resolution as it may sound at first.

Some of the things which have lessened joy in this country and which give Americans in general a reputation of being less prosperous spiritually than they are materially could very comfortably be dispensed with. These are worry, over-work, pessimism, self-indulgence and doubt, the by-products of too much concentration on material prosperity as a goal in itself. If New Year's resolutions started a lot of irritable mortals to thinking and acting with courage, leisure, optimism, unselfishness, temperance and faith, the year, as it advances, would be one of the best satisfactory years on record.

WOMEN'S EDITORIAL

TOO MANY MRS. LOTS

By FLORENCE DAVIES

And so, for better or worse, the old year is winding itself up, and getting through.

We say good-bye a little reluctantly most of us, for, no matter how good its been, it's safe to assume that it hasn't been suite all that we meant to make of it. That much is certain. For always hopes run a little higher than achievement.

But such as it has been, we're waving it off into the eternal limbo of all yesterdays. And let's hope that we're waving it off without too many regrets.

For women, alas, are a little prone to regret, a little too fond of looking back.

Good sensible old Doctor Prestwick in "Nina", the latest book of Susan Ertz, whom we came to know through her much-talked-of "Madame Claire", had a pretty level old head.

"Go ahead," he told Nina, who was trying to put an old-love out of her life. "Go ahead, and whatever you do, don't look back. There are too many Mrs. Lots among you women. Men don't keep looking behind them all the time at what they've left, and they've usually got a great deal more to look at than you have."

"It's no good asking me to forget the past," said Nina. "I am my own past. I am the sum of everything I've said and done and thought and felt I want to be. I don't disown any of it."

Well, you see, they were both perfectly right. And just because Nina was right, just because we are all of us the sum of everything we've done in the past, is just the reason why we don't have to look back and brood over it.

For the past leaves its inescapable residue, makes its indelible mark. You're just that much richer or poorer for it; and in a way its bound to be richer, for no matter what disappointment or suffering it has been, it has made you that much bigger. That's why it isn't necessary to waste time facing backwards. It's there is part of you by this time. And looking back at it is only waste motion.

Better to accept Nina's estimate, then, and realize that the past years is yours for better or worse, for whatever it has added to the sum of your life, and then listen to the good counsel of old Dr. Prestwick and refuse to be a Mrs. Lot. There are too many of them among women, he claims.

Men seldom waste time in mulling over things. They say "What's next?

Tomorrow is another day, and another year. That's the only thing worth thinking about today, not the mere fact that today marks the end of 366 yesterdays.

And here's a fine thing to remember about tomorrow. Tomorrow isn't too late to make a beginning at anything. It isn't too late to begin to learn Greek if you're eighty. It has been done.

"I never painted better in my life than I've painted this year," said an artist with snow-white hair. Another man who had been late at every appointment for fifty years suddenly decided that being late was a disgrace. At fifty he decided to be punctual and, barring accidents, he was never late after that. Yesterdays don't matter.

What they've given you no one can rob you of, so you need not worry about them. But tomorrow is yours. It's the only thing worth thinking about now.

[illegible] Congressman W. S. Vare and employees of the Philadelphia office, being A. G. Costello, examiner [illegible] Tingham, assistant [illegible] Corrigan, assistant [illegible] forced [illegible] and [illegible] employees of [illegible] the Workmen's [illegible] Secretary of Labor [illegible] asked for their [illegible]

Important "Ones" to Go

Heads of the other departments [illegible] declared they had not completed [illegible] and would not make public [illegible] tomorrow, but rumors were rather busy tonight with people holding rather important places.

The most [illegible] aggressive [illegible] Gifford Pinchot since [illegible] primaries and legislature [illegible] for votes for Governor [illegible] the first list [illegible] from Philadelphia [illegible] the names [illegible] some conservatives [illegible] and by mutual [illegible] Chairman and State Chairman W. Harry Baker. It is said an [illegible] began operations tonight.

The [illegible] has been urged [illegible] Williamsport, [illegible] has been busy [illegible] Harer's name, but [illegible] place and instead [illegible] the Williamsport man never announced his candidacy.

While Gov. Pinchot would not give any figures as to what the day's harvest by means of the telephone had produced he seemed to be in a happy state of mind tonight, and claimed substantial gains. Drives were made in the southwestern counties and men of authority in party affairs in other counties were told what was coming if they did not turn in legislators. It was campaigning of the old-fashioned kind and recalled the days of the Brumbaugh effort to put over Edwin R. Cox as speaker when Richard J. Baldwin was elected to preside over the House of 1911.

The supposition is that the result of the day's efforts inspired the Governor to make the demonstration against the place holders and to lend a ready ear to the suggestion of finding out what the State Chairman had in mind.

During the afternoon Secretaries C. H. Miner, Health and R. H. Lansburgh, Labor; G. H. Moyer, manager of the insurance fund, and Acting Secretary W. H. Connell, highways, had consultations with the Governor. In addition to the letter it is said the Governor will call on the carpet various county leaders holding state offices such as Compensation Referee T. H. Seidel, who is county chairman of Berks.

Governor's Statement

When asked tonight just before he left the Capitol what it was all about the Governor made this statement:

"No resignations will be asked for and no dismissals will be made except in strict accordance with the policy I declared repeatedly in the primary and election campaigns of two years ago and have stuck to ever since. A public servant who is both loyal and competent will be retained in office so long as his or her services are needed. A public servant who is not competent or not loyal ought to be and will be removed."

The Governor let it go at that. He refused to say more even when it was suggested anything might be done [illegible] that.

The Pinchot drive created considerable stir in the Capitol tonight, largely because it seemed to be entirely regardless of what the consequences might be in the session on legislation in which he might be interested or on which he would exercise veto powers. It was very evident that it was an effort to breach Philadelphia and to serve as a warning to other parts of the state.

In addition to Senator J. C. Clark, of Indiana, who said he was here on highway matters, the Governor saw Representative W. W. Long, Chester, who has been mentioned as compromise candidate, but who did not seem enthusiastic about it today; "Bill" Buckland of Montgomery and John C. Fine and Clarence Coughlin of Luzerne. It is said the Governor is counting on the vote of Lorenzo Schwartz of the latter county.

The opinion in Capitol corridors was that the Governor was bent on getting Goodnough over and would not compromise. Friends said tonight he had not changed his opinion that Harer is only a "stalking horse."

Events of the day turned the contest into one of the most exciting the Capitol has seen in years and the speculation as to how far the Governor would go seemed endless, including holding up of appointments due to be sent to the Senate for confirmation.

The excitement over the speakership contest has collided with an old established custom at the executive mansion and there will be no New Year's Day reception given by the Pinchots.

For years governors of Pennsylvania have been "at home" to people of Harrisburg on the day. It was announced today there would be no reception.

Market News

New York, Dec. 31. (INS.)—General Electric jumped 11 points to 308 and sold up to 310 for an overnight gain of 13 points at the opening of the stock market today. Industrial and railroad stocks were somewhat irregular, with fractional declines in many of the active stocks. Oils were steady.

Court Confirms Sale Of H. & C. Telephone Co. To Group Of Bankers

Judge Chase made an order this morning confirming absolutely the sale by the Clearfield Trust Co., receiver, on April 22, 1924, of the franchises, rights and property of the Huntingdon & Clearfield Telephone Company, to the following group of business men and bankers of this region: A. W. Lee, W. W. Wrigley, H. B. Powell, Fred B. Kerr, of Clearfield; George Prindible, W. H. Sanford, Ralph Good, of Patton; Thomas J. Lee, of Philipsburg; James H. Allport and Rembrandt Peale, of Barnesboro.

Objection was made to the confirmation of the sale by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania because several years' taxes had been left unpaid, but this obligation was met and the objection removed. The sale was made subject to the mortgage given by the H. & C. Company to the Indiana Telephone and Telegraph Company.

In the Courts

The New York Central Railroad Company, according to the statement filed in a suit begun yesterday in the Clearfield county courts by Liveright & Chase, will be asked to reimburse John W. Williams to the amount of $6,200 for damages done Mr. Williams' property in Gazzam by reason of the cloudburst which inundated that section of Clearfield county on August 24, 1924.

Mr. Williams' frame dwelling house was located at the corner of Clearfield and Main streets in Gazzam, adjacent to Liddell Run, the waters of which are carried under the New York Central tracks through a stone culvert. Upon the day of the big flood and when it was seen the culvert would be inadequate to carry the flood waters, Mr. Williams, fearing damage to his property, notified representatives of the railroad company of the situation and asked that a crew of men be sent to the place to prevent what Mr. Williams feared and just what did happen.

When the big rush of water came Mr. Williams' home was washed from its foundation and practically demolished. He now asks $4,000 for the damage to the dwelling, $1,200 for loss of personal property and $1,000 for the inconvenience caused Mr. Williams and his family.

KNOCKED L OUT OF THE DEVIL

There used to be an old Irish song one line of the chorus of which ran something like this: "If you're out for a row or a ruction, just trend on the tail of me coat."

Our devil was a moving figure in demonstrating the fact hinted at in that line. He was skating on the river last evening when some fellow hooped onto his coat. Bill thinks a lot of that coat and ordered the trespasser off forthwith. One word brought on another and finally Bill swatted the other fellow on the fist with his bazoo and a doctor has been busy several times today running Bill's lip up on a sewing machine in order that he can hold soup when he unloads it off the spoon.

SPORTS

FOOTBALL HISTORY WILL BE MADE AT PASADENA JAN. 1ST

By TOM THORPE
I. N. S. Special Correspondent

New York, Dec. 31.—Glenn Warner's Stanford University pupils may stop the Notre Dame four horsemen in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, California, tomorrow. The Pacific coast collegians have not been given credit for as much football as they know. The East has failed to understand that Harvard was the last team to make the trip across the continent for the tournament of Roses and win.

Bob Fisher's lads won from Oregon in a memorable 7 to 6 battle. Since then every team that has travelled to the Pacific coast for the Pasadena game has lost. It would not be surprising if Notre Dame followed the Centre Rule tomorrow.

Some have said that the trip across the continent has sapped the strength of the Easterners, Such is not the case. The climatic conditions out in California are not so far different from those which an easterm or middle western team encountered late in October or early in November.

The excuses of climatic conditions may be passed over lightly outside the inconvenience of a long train ride the conditions are about the same as it would encounter in the east.

So far as travelling is concerned the Notre Dame team should be well accustomed to the road. No team in the country makes so many extensive trips to so many distant points as the players that perform for Knute Rockne. The added fact that they make their trips as annual affairs makes them the best travelling outfit in American football.

It must not be lost sight of that Glenn Warner has to bring his lads down from Palo Alto to Pasadena to play.

It has been demonstrated several times that Knute Rockne's game can be stopped. Fred Dawson put the skids under Notre Dame two years running. The Czechoslovaks lost in Syracuse after taking the measure of their strength. Wood of Centre defeated Syracuse in the mud. Colgate.

Many Eastern teams defeated Colgate that year. All of which seems to indicate that the proper defense can be run up against Notre Dame the four horsemen can be stopped.

Those who know Glenn Warner appreciate the quality of Coach the Stanford man is. Rockne has grabbed most of the limelight during the last few years. Warner has basked in the full glare of the calcium for many years. He is recognized by experts in all parts of the country as the daddy of them all.

He has given the game more of its fundamental formation than any individual could with the game. Some pioneering in the open game. Many developments days after much study and hard work.

The combination of Shidreher, Miller, Boyd and Larden is going to be stopped Hocked up more often than has been the case in previous games this season.

Warner is of the opinion that Innes Stanford is the greatest defensive team in the country that he has ever encountered defense that will halt the march of the "four horsemen." If he does this he will turn the tables on his Notre Dame rival.

SPORTSMEN TO GIVE SLY FOX A MERRY NEW YEAR GREETING

Final arrangements for an old fashioned fox hunt in the Cold Stream region on New Year's day were made at a well attended meeting of sportsmen held in the assembly room of the Moshannon National Bank building Monday night.

Charles Erb, vice president of the State Centre Game, Fish and Forestry Association, presided, and W. N. Zeiler, one of the aggressive members of the association, served as secretary.

After discussing the proposed hunt informally, the territory to be covered and the time of starting the hunt were taken up and disposed of and captains of the chase selected.

Ed Hess and Arlie Spanole were named as captains, both experienced in fox hunting. One will have charge of the men and the other the dogs.

All the hunters are expected to start for the Cold Stream region at 8 o'clock. Hunters residing in Philipsburg and vicinity will meet at Reliance hall.

Osceola Mills hunters will leave about the same time. They will take to the woods beyond Bigelow's farm, or near the "Y". They will be in charge of John ("Jaggers") Mayes.

Those from Port Matilda and vicinity will string out near Thompson's dairy farm, and start their hunt from that locality.

The more foxhounds in the chase the greater will be the success of the chase. Men owning dogs that will take up the chase are especially invited to join in the hunt. Game protectors have assured those promoting the hunt that there will be no prosecution of the owner of a dog should it start to run a deer, nor will the dog be shot. The only stipulation is that should a dog start running a deer the owner of the hound and others in the party make every effort to stop him and protect the deer.

Hunters who have shotguns are requested to use them instead of rifles. Experienced hunters say it takes a good marksman to hit a fox with a rifle ball. But rifles are not barred. All who desire to use rifles are at liberty to do so. The big thing is to get into the chase with dog and gun.

Hunters with their hounds are expected to come from all over the region and participate in the chase. Parties from Blue Ball, Bigler Woodland, Wallaceton, Hawk Run Morrisdale, Allport, Kylertown, Osceola Mills and Sandy Ridge have already notified the local sportsmen in charge of the drive that they will join in the hunt.

All men who enjoy a tramp thru the woods, who like to experience the thrill that comes with the "bawl" of the hounds and the excitement of the chase, are cordially invited to join in the drive against the foxes, the most destructive of the small game killers. Jam a sandwich into the hunting coat pocket, shoulder the "old reliable" and join the party.

Clearfield hunters and their fox dogs are solicited to join in this big round up of Bro. John Fox. If the initial chase is as successful as anticipated more of them will be held in the different sections where foxes are reported plentiful.

BASKETBALL FRIDAY NIGHT

The crack Jersey Shore High School Basketball team, one of the very best high school teams in this region, is scheduled to meet the local high team on the high school gym floor Friday evening, Jan. 2.

The local boys are fast rounding into top notch form and expect to give a good account of themselves in this third game of the season.

AMERICAN LEGION DANCE

Indications point to an exceptionally large crowd at the New Year's dance of the local American Legion post, which will be held in the Dimeling hotel ball room tomorrow evening.

The music will be furnished by the Keystone Orchestra.

Women in Business

A recent gathering of business women in London included, among others, advertising agents, agricultural engineers, architects, a dental surgeon, a lawyer, a publisher, a florist, tea taster, a horse breeder, a surveyor, a theatrical manager, a color consultant, an automobile saleswoman, a pearl stringer and two members of parliament.

CHAMPION DUCK PIN CONTEST AT THE Y. M. C. A.

The annual New Years Duck Pin contest for bowling enthusiasts will open tomorrow morning with an exhibition game by Clair Ennis, a local veteran of the Bowling Art, at 9:00 a. m. The exhibition will be open to the general public and all contestants in the game are requested to witness the scientific handling of the small balls and delivery for clearing the boards of the duck pins. The singles contest, in which every bowler will 'roll his own' for five consecutive games will continue throughout the morning of New Year's Day until each man has bowled. Three prizes will be awarded, first, second and third; first to high total for five games, second prize to another contestant with high single and third prize to bowler who makes the longest string of marks, strikes and spars.

In the afternoon beginning at 1:30, Ennis will repeat his exhibition and the doubles elimination duck pin contest will be conducted for the championship in doubles. At least ten teams are expected to enter; entries close at 10 p. m. tonight. Attractive prizes for the members of the successful team.

Big Pins will be the attraction in the evening and the second series of the Inter-Church Bowling League will start with a three game tilt between the strong Baptist and Trinity Methodist aggregations. The admission is free to men and women who would enjoy witnessing this recreational game.

CHRISTMAS AT THE COUNTY HOME

A letter of appreciation and thanks to all the persons who contributed towards making Christmas a time of enjoyment, long to be remembered, by the inmates of the County Home. An excellent dinner of chicken, sweet potatoes and apple pie was served at noon. Special mention is made of the apples and oranges donated by the County Commissioners, also to our genial superintendent, Thos. A. Newman, who gave cigars to all the inmates. Also to the Clearfield Rotary Club who supplied all the inmates with a Whitman wonderful box of candies for children, which was enjoyed by the children grown old in years and going down the hill of life.

Also on Monday afternoon we had another treat prepared by the Rev. C. K. Gibson, pastor of Eleventh Street M. E. church, while special mention is due the young ladies who assisted in distributing the good things brought by Rev. Gibson, and not forgetting the young boy who rendered some good music on the violin and helped to entertain the inmates at the service in the afternoon. Thanks are also due the Baptist people of the East End who supplied candies and perfume to the women inmates of the home. The Hon. W. I. Betts also supplied candies, nuts, oranges, games and toys to those under 16 years of age.

We wish to thank all persons who in any way helped to make this Christmas a very enjoyable and interesting time, for the rest we have used all the encouragement possible to help them to forget themselves in their condition, after having lived of usefulness and then being compelled to end their days at the county home, even though it is the best place for some of us, who are unable to take care of ourselves.

Remembering that it is our blessed to give than to receive, we again thank you earnestly and sincerely, we the inmates of the County Home.

Happy New Year to all.

ASK FOR BIDS ON B-P HIGHWAY LINK

Sealed bids for the construction of re-enforced concrete road between Brandy Camp and Rockdale, Bell township, Elk county, will be opened on January 2nd, 1925, at Harrisburg, says the Pittsburgh Record.

The completion of this contract will link Ridgway with DuBois and points east and south by means of improved highways and this improvement will no doubt be received with hearty approval by motorists in this section.

The distance which is approximately six miles will connect with the newly constructed road at Brockway which is part of the Bell trail and links with the newly built road that leads from Brockwayville to DuBois on the highway that has been under construction during the past year. It is hoped that the two will be completed during the coming summer in order that Ridgway motorists will have an outlet through the entire year.

MRS. MARY GARRETSON DIES

A message has been received by friends telling of the death of Mrs. Mary Garretson Tuesday at her home at DuBois. Mrs. Garretson formerly lived in New Washington and was aunt of Mrs. J. H. Kelley and sister-in-law of Mrs. Mary McMurray. She has many friends in Clearfield and throughout the county who will regret to hear of her death.

PUNXSY CHILD FATALLY SCALDED; FALLS INTO TUB

Punxsutawney, Dec. 30.—Falling backward into a bucket of scalding water Monday noon, Norman Francis Kelley, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kelley, of Gaskins avenue, was so badly burned that he died at 9:15 last night in the Punxsutawney hospital.

Mrs. Kelley had finished her washing and was transferring the scalding water from a boiler on the kitchen stove into a large bucket for disposal. The little fellow was playing with a box of Christmas candy about the kitchen and backed against the bucket, losing his balance and sitting down in the scalding fluid. His mother, horror stricken, pulled the baby from the bucket and hurried him to the Punxsutawney hospital. An examination there disclosed terrible burns from under the armpits to the ankles, and little hope was held for his recovery. He continued to sink in spite of every effort and died shortly after nine o'clock.

The child is survived by his parents, one brother and three sisters: Annabel, Dorothy, George and May.

ELK HOSE CO. TO ENTERTAIN

The Elk Hose Co., will stage an entertainment at their home on Daisy street this evening for the members of the Fire Department. Invitations have been sent to all the firemen, if you didn't receive yours come anyway and bring a little change with you. The proceeds of the affair will go toward strengthening the weak spots in the Department treasury, and goodness knows it needs it.

Activities will begin about 9 p. m. and continue until old 1924 passes off the deck, when the New Year will be welcomed in with appropriate music and festivities. All firemen and their friends will be made welcome and you will enjoy a very pleasant evening.

Eccentric English Duke

The duke of Bedford's gold plate at Woburn abbey is among the most magnificent collections of its kind in the world. So lightly, however, was it regarded by the eighth duke, that on his death in 1872 gold plate worth tens of thousands of dollars was found strewn about the floor of his house in Belgrave square in such a deplorable condition that it narrowly escaped being consigned to the dustbin as worthless metal.

Indian Tribal Language

American Indians are divided into groups and the languages of the various groups are found to differ to such a degree that one is not intelligible to another. Often within the same linguistic family different tribes speak radically different dialects. This is true of the Pueblos in the Southwest. Inhabitants of villages only 100 miles apart cannot understand each other's native tongues.
